Factors Affecting Price

- o Material: Stainless steel, galvanized steel, and pre-galvanized options vary in cost. Stainless steel is more expensive but corrosion-resistant.

- o Size and Depth: Wider and deeper trays require more material and stronger brackets, increasing cost.

- o Quantity: Bulk orders often reduce per-unit cost, especially for brackets and splicing kits.

- o Supplier and Shipping: Prices differ between retail stores, online marketplaces, and industrial suppliers. Shipping and delivery times may also affect total cost.
