

Article Overview

Eurotray and VALDINOX are among the leading Austrian manufacturers of galvanized cable trays, each excelling in durability, customization, and industrial applications.

Eurotray

Eurotray, a subsidiary of the Cemesan Group, offers a comprehensive range of cable trays, ladders, and wire mesh trays designed for durability and adaptability in large-scale installations . Their products comply with European and international standards, ensuring safety and long-term performance. Eurotray specializes in strong, cost-effective solutions suitable for power generation, commercial, and industrial sectors, making them ideal for projects requiring heavy-duty and reliable cable management systems . They also provide turnkey solutions and support for complex installations.

VALDINOX

VALDINOX has been manufacturing wire mesh cable trays and supports since 1982, focusing on easy installation and secure cable management . Their EASYCONNECT system is noted for its durability and safety, making it suitable for industrial and commercial applications. VALDINOX emphasizes technical expertise and experience, offering a wide range of accessories and support systems to facilitate efficient installation and maintenance.

Comparison

- o Product Range: Eurotray offers a broader selection including ladders, perforated trays, and wire mesh, while VALDINOX focuses on wire mesh trays and installation accessories.
- o Customization: Both companies provide tailored solutions, but Eurotray has a stronger presence in large-scale industrial projects.
- o Compliance and Standards: Eurotray explicitly highlights compliance with EN and IEC standards, which is critical for European projects. VALDINOX also adheres to industrial quality standards, particularly for secure and durable installations.
- o Experience: VALDINOX has over 40 years of experience in wire mesh systems, while Eurotray benefits from being part of a larger group with extensive European market experience.

Recommendation

For large-scale industrial or infrastructure projects requiring a wide variety of cable tray types and strict compliance with European standards, Eurotray is likely the better choice. For projects emphasizing wire mesh
