

Which company in Uzbekistan is best at manufacturing intelligent PDU control boards

Article Overview

RPCM and Nova Solutions are leading companies in Uzbekistan for manufacturing intelligent PDU control boards.

RPCM (Remote Power Control Module)

RPCM specializes in smart PDUs designed for data centers, telecom hubs, and remote facilities. Their products offer advanced features such as automatic switching between power inputs, short-circuit protection, individual outlet current limits, and remote reboot of hung equipment. RPCM PDUs integrate with REST API and SNMP protocols, allowing seamless connection to monitoring, billing, and management systems. The company emphasizes automation, resilience, and energy efficiency, making it suitable for commercial data centers and geographically distributed infrastructure in Uzbekistan .

Nova Solutions

Founded in 2019, Nova Solutions focuses on electronic device development, automation control systems, and programmable logic controllers (PLCs). Their expertise extends to industrial process automation, control cabinets, and integration with SCADA and ERP systems. Nova Solutions manufactures high-tech automation and control systems for oil, gas, power, and other industries, providing both local and top-level automation solutions. Their production is based in Tashkent, and they continuously invest in modern equipment to enhance manufacturing capabilities .

Comparison and Recommendation

- o RPCM is highly specialized in intelligent PDU control boards for IT and telecom applications, with strong remote management and automation features.
- o Nova Solutions offers broader industrial automation and control systems, including PLCs and control cabinets, which can be adapted for PDU applications in industrial settings. For data center or telecom-focused intelligent PDU solutions, RPCM is likely the best choice in Uzbekistan due to its dedicated smart PDU product line and advanced remote management capabilities. For industrial automation applications where PDU control is part of a larger process control system, Nova Solutions provides a robust alternative .
